Pastor Russell and Party En Route For Europe.

The Storm on Galilee's Sea Furnishes Text For a Discourse—Acts as Well as Words of Jesus Parabolic—The Storm as a Type—The Master and His Disciples as Types—Quelling the Storm a Type—Also the Great Calm.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

Aboard "The Empress of Ireland," on the Atlantic, July 27.—"There arose a great tempest in the sea * * * but He was asleep. And His disciples awoke Him, saying, Lord, save us; we perish. * * * Then He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm."—Matthew 8:24-26.

The Bible informs us that Jesus' teachings were parabolic. The Master explained some of His actions and words to His disciples, and told them that they alone were permitted to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven. He did not explain all of His parables even to His Apostles. On the contrary, He said, "When the Spirit of Truth is come [at Pentecost and after], He shall guide you into all Truth, and bring all things to your remembrance whatsoever I have spoken."

Since Pentecost, therefore, Jesus' followers can understand His teaching in a way that His earliest followers could not. It was not expedient that natural men should understand clearly the Divine Plan. St. Peter declared that if the Jewish rulers had known, they would not have crucified the Prince of Life. But only by Jesus' crucifixion could the Divine Plan be carried out. Therefore it was hidden from those for whom it was not intended.

This was a blessing; for if they had done those things under full light and knowledge, their guilt would have been much greater. They are, therefore, to be punished according to their limited light and knowledge.

The same principle obtains respecting the whole world: light increases responsibility. He that knew the Master's will, and did it not, shall receive many stripes; he that knew not the Master's will, and did things worthy of stripes, shall receive few stripes. Those begotten of the Holy Spirit as God's children have the highest responsibility, because they have the greatest knowledge. They alone could commit the sin unto death, as St. Paul explains.—Hebrews 6:1-6; 10:26, 27.

The secret of the demarcation between the Church and the world is that the former has the Holy Spirit begetting to a new nature, with privileges of knowledge of God and His plans not granted others. Only the outlines of the Divine Character and Plan can be clearly discerned and appreciated by those not spirit-begotten.

The Boat and the Storm in Antitype.

Our lesson typically considered, the boat would represent the Gospel Dispensation; the Master asleep, the Lord's apparent indifference to the storms of persecution assailing His Church; and the disciples' imploring cry, the prayers of the Church throughout the Age.

After our Lord's ascension, storms of persecution followed one another until the history of the true Church has been marked by severe trials of patience and faith. Often the Lord's people have wondered at the afflictions permitted to come upon them. It seemed as though the Lord did not care.

We might reason that if God had raised the storm which frightened experienced fishermen, surely Jesus would not have worked contrary to the Divine arrangement. We might also reason that Satan, "the Prince of the Power of the Air," might have thought to thwart the Divine arrangement respecting Jesus' crucifixion.

Storm of Trouble Is Near.

Bible students are convinced that the great storm of trouble upon the Church is very near. We need not prophesy concerning its character. We are to remember, however, that the majority of the storms upon the Church have come from professed people of God, rather than from the world. The Scribes, Pharisees and Doctors of the Law really crucified Jesus, as St. Peter declared.—Acts 3:13-15.

Our expectation is that the Church will have its most trying experiences from professed brethren. Church Federation has a sincere and innocent look; but is not its purpose and object to fortify sectarianism? Should we not expect that, when it shall gain the measure of political influence and power indicated in the symbolic book of Revelation, those holding a simple faith in God and His Word, and striving to walk the narrow way, will be misrepresented, slandered and even ally hindered from the Lord's service?

The Lord seems to indicate that His Church will be perfected on the Heavenly plane before the world's tribulation shall break in fury. True, the Church may escape in the sense of being enabled to live above the trouble—unaffected by it; but we think not. We believe that the Church will have passed into glory before the culmination of the world's Day of Wrath.

Answered Prayer.

He asked for health that he might do greater things; he was given infirmity that he might do better things.

He asked for power that he might have the praise of men; he was given weakness that he might see the need of God.

He asked for all things that he might enjoy life; he was given Life that he might enjoy all things.

He has received nothing that he asked for, all that he hoped for. His prayer is answered. He is most blest.—Christian Intelligence.

A Hot Weather Sermon.

We are getting only what comes to us at this season, and the less we think about the heat the cooler it will seem.

Summer philosophy includes these suggestions among others: Provide your physical system with plenty of moisture of the lemonade and local option variety.

Provide your mind with wholesome, kind and charitable thoughts and keep it cool by remembering how much warmer it is in some other places—Hades for instance.

Eat little and "cuss" less. The less meat and other heavy stuff you eat the better you will feel, and the more money you can save for your vacation trip. And the less you "cuss" the lower the thermometer will register.

Look upon the boiling process in the light of a Turkish bath, or a medical prescription. A lot of bad things are being stewed out of you, and you are getting the treatment free—just think of that!

Finally, try to do a kind turn to somebody else who is not so well off as you are. That will help mightily to make you happy, and if you are happy you will not care a snap about the thermometer.—Baltimore Sun.

What if Mrs. Republican Party should sue the Colonel on a charge of wife desertion?—Bethany Democrat.

And Taft Really Knows.

Ex-President Taft says too few of our citizens vote. He is speaking experience and ought to know.—Sturgeon Leader.

Stop Barking About Taxes.

Go home and quit the everlasting growling about taxes. The people of Chicago pay $5.00 on the hundred.—Platte City Landmark.

Wilson Had All Speed.

Republican Leader Mann refers to President Wilson as "a sacred rabbit." He isn't one, but he ran like one last November.—Boonville Advertiser.

No Trouble to Guess.

Who will be the Progressive party nominee for president in 1916? Don't all speak at once. Who will be the Republican, or third party nominee? Now you can all guess.—Memphis Democrat.

Should Go to the Pen.

Every legislator who helped the lobbyists passed the bills that robbed the people should be proven guilty and sent to the penitentiary; stripes would be becoming to them.

It makes no difference whether they be Democrat, Republican, Socialist or what not. Each is as guilty as the other, and the national legislator, the millionaire and his paid lobbyists are just as big robbers as the men that break into your homes or hold you up in some dark alley.—Milan Standard.

Col. Jenkins Speaks Plainly.

There are too many onery, impudent, lazy, worthless niggers in this man's town. Something is going to drop before long. This has no reference to respectable colored people. It means niggers.—Platt County Landmark.

The Wolf of Wall Street.

The man who bears the nimble plume of Lamar has been given the euphonious title of the "wolf of Wall street," though with small cause since he seems to be taking the role "the goat."—Glasgow Missourian.

May She Have a Harp.

A man in Iowa was soundly thrashed by his wife last week for not paying his newspaper subscription after she had given him the cash to do it. May her crown be trimmed to order and her harp have an extra string.—Edgerton Journal.

Bartholdt Was Ready to Pay.

Congressman Bartholdt points with pride to the fact that he did not ask that steamship company for a "free pass" just only a reduction in rates. He was willing to preserve a portion of his congressional dignity even if he had to pay for it.—Bolckow Herald.

The Way to Bu'd Up a City.

Pull together, brethren. We are all here for the same purpose. Then live and let live. The best way to build up a town is for each and every man to pull together and not to rend and pull down. All the residents of a town are partners, not opponents. In all likelihood, the more business by your rival the more you will do. Craig Leader.

Stand Up, Republican Brother.

Now stand up my good Republican brother. You have been saying all your life that the trusts were not protected by the tariff and that it did not benefit them. Now tell us, if you are right in what you say, why is there several thousands of high priced trust agents hanging around Washington City and why all this howling, weeping and gnashing of teeth. The Democrats are not making any noise.—Platte County Lanamark.

But the Men Will Look.

Women who appear upon the streets of this city wearing what is known in the fashion papers as the "split skirt" should be arrested for disorderly conduct where the wearer has no underskirt and the leg is exposed almost to the knee. Such an immodest sight is seen here most every day and is contrary to the laws of decency and a disgrace to the sex.—Excelsior Spring Standard.

Harry E. Sorrell was here from Hannibal Saturday. He is doing well in Hannibal.

Mrs. Lewis Aylor and son, of St. Louis went to Hannibal Saturday after a two weeks visit with relatives here.

Toyland.

And how do you get to Toyland?
To all little people the joyland!

Just follow your nose
And go on tiptoes,
It's only a minute to Toyland.

And ho! but it's gay in Toyland,
This bright, merry girl-and-boy land.
And woolly dogs white
That never will bite,
You'll meet on the highways in Toyland.

Society's fine in Toyland.
The dollies all think it a joyland;
And folks in the ark
Stay out after dark,
And tin soldiers regulate Toyland.

There's fun all the year in Toyland,
To sorrow 'twas ever a coy land;
And steamers are run
And steam cars for fun,
They're wound up with keys down in Toyland.

Bold jumping jacks thrive in Toyland;
Fine castles adorn this joyland;
And bright are the dreams
And sunny the beams
That gladden the faces in Toyland.

How long do you live in Toyland?
This bright, merry girl-and-boy land.
A few days, at best,
We stay as a guest,
Then goodbye forever, to Toyland.

New Jersey Democrat Wins in Tariff Test.

Newark, N. J., July 23.—By an actual majority of more than 2000, and by a sweeping plurality that will reach with all the figures in more than 6300, the returns today showed Archibald C. Hart, Democrat, was elected to Congress yesterday in the Sixth District.

Maj. Stephen Wood McClave, Republican, was a bad second, leading Herbert M. Bailey, Progressive, by fewer than 600 votes. Last fall McClave led his Progressive rival by 1366 votes.

This election was considered the first actual test of the Wilson administration's stand on the tariff.
